Kevin Riley, an attorney from Reiling Teder & Schrier LLC, represented the petitioners. Mr. Riley provided detailed information concerning this request to the commissioners. He noted that a portion of the properties in the surrounding area are zoned agricultural and property owners against this rezone live on agricultural zoned land themselves. Mr. Riley mentioned that rezoning this property will not change the character of the home or neighborhood. The petitioners currently have sow on the property and have not received any complaints in the past from neighbors. Mr. Riley stated that this parcel is a 4 acre tract and includes a home with two pole barns. The amount of open land is approximately two acres and the petitioners feel that this is a sufficient amount of land for the animals.

Greg McKinney, a neighbor of Andrea and William Brunson commented on the rezone. Mr. McKinney claims that the agricultural zoning and introductions of animals to the neighborhood will deplete the quality of neighborhood and surrounding areas. He feels strongly that this is a poor use of the land and asked the Commissioners to consider the issues in this area. Mr. McKinney stated that the presence of manure and questionable plans for the property are bothersome to the neighbors.

Steve Kantz, also a neighbor, commented on the rezone. Mr. Kantz provided a petition to the Commissioners with signatures of neighbors against the rezone. These neighbors live within a half-mile radius of Andrea and William Brunson and will be most affected by the rezone. Mr. Kantz is a long-time resident and feels that the property values could drop for this area if the request is approved and perhaps open the door for others to rezone. It was suggested that animal management and containment have been a problem in the past with the petitioner and the animal to land ratio is questionable.

Andrea Brunson, petitioner, spoke on her own behalf. Ms. Brunson noted that her interest in not in raising a large amount of animals, but mainly to have animals for 4-H use. Before requesting a rezone, the Brunson's made an effort to discuss this issue with the neighbors and were unsuccessful. Ms. Brunson stated that her intention is to breed her own prize-winning animal for 4-H exhibition and she regrets that her neighbors are against the rezone.

Commissioner Knochel has visited the site several times and noted that the area is mostly agricultural. Commissioner Benson stated that she is not in favor of the rezone due to the Brunson's animal to land ratio. Commissioner Benson then asked Area Plan Commissioner Sallie Fahey to organize a committee and develop an ordinance with details regarding land use for 4-H or any other small projects on large residential parcels.

Auditor Weston recorded:

Knochel – Yes

Benson – No
Shedd – Yes

Ordinance 2007-09-CM passes 2-1.

- Commissioner Shedd moved that Area Plan file a petition and have a hearing to consider and make recommendations to rezone the remaining acreage Z-10116, R1 back to A, seconded by Commissioner Knochel; motion carried.

Commissioner Benson noted that Rezone Z-2315 has been withdrawn and will not be heard.

ASSESSORS – Samantha Steele

County Assessor Samantha Steele asked that all bids received for Annual Trending Services be rejected due to budget constraints. Assessor Steele noted that there are not enough funds in her budget to award a trending contract. She claims that the shortage is at least $8,000 and that is if she awards the contract to the lowest bidder. Commissioner Benson suggested that funds be requested from the County Council. Assessor Steele suggested changing the bid specifications to reduce the cost for trending. Commissioner Knochel advised Assessor Steele to hold bids and request additional appropriations. He mentioned that these bids were made in good faith and re-bidding this project will only delay the trending process further. Assessor Steele stated that she would like to review the break down of cost and re-evaluate the bids in an effort to reduce costs. Assessor Steele claimed that she would need to request $100,000 from the County Council to cover the appeal contract and the New Construction contract carried over from last year.

- Commissioner Knochel moved to take current bids under advisement and leave them open for 60 days, seconded by Commissioner Shedd; motion carried.

Assessor Steele then discussed the bids for Appellate Services. She debated that the lowest bidders, GnA did not obtain insurance as requested and believes they should be disqualified from the bidding. Commissioner Benson asked Al Jordan and Ginny Whipple of GnA to address the issues brought forth by Assessor Steele. Ms. Whipple noted that the Appeals contract did not request insurance information. Mr. Jordan testified to the fact that insurance had been obtained, but not until the last set of bids specifications were released on the Friday before bids were due. Mr. Jordan mentioned that Professional Liability and Errors and Omissions insurance would not be purchased until they were awarded the contract. Assessor Steele then suggested that Nexus Corporation be awarded the contract due to various DLGF guidelines unmet by GnA. Commissioner Benson then mentioned she was concerned about appeal deadlines and proper representation of professionals at these hearings. Commissioner Benson asked other township assessors for their input on professional representation. Township Assessors Jan Payne and Janet Freels requested representation and confirmed that it was necessary to be successful. They suggested that GnA be awarded the contract for 2006 appeals due to familiarity and time invested by GnA on the county's 2006 trending.

- Commissioner Knochel made a motion to enter into a contract with GnA for Appellate Services for $16,000, seconded by Commissioner Shedd; motion carried.

Paul Post spoke regarding his real estate appeal. Mr. Post mentioned that he is concerned with the status of his appeal. Mr. Post, a taxpayer in the Fairfield Township, stated that his appeal has been on file for four months without any resolution. Mr. Post urged the commissioners to consider the taxpayers and the time involved with 2006 appeals. He believes the county should work to settle appeals quickly and leave taxpayers out of this political firestorm.
